

United Surgical Partners International

Winning in Value-Based Payment

Why engage?

Everyone wants value for their healthcare dollar, and physicians are key to creating that value. Medicare is poised to offer a new option, expanding on existing bundled payment demonstration programs that provide physicians with shared savings opportunities. As with many programs, the window to enroll will likely be short and physicians and their partners will need to make quick decisions about whether and how to accept and manage financial risk.

How are doctors bending the cost curve now?

Most providers don't realize the cost of post-acute care for their surgical cases nor the costly decisions made for their patients by other providers. An average stay in an inpatient rehabilitation facility (IRF) is $20,000 and an average skilled nursing facility stay is $10,000. Helping patients avoid a post-acute care facility altogether can shave thousands of dollars off an episode, lead to higher patient satisfaction, reduce readmissions and speed recovery.
